Forgetting A Wireless Network in Windows 10

When connecting to CNU Wireless networks, it may become necessary for you to forget a previous network connection first. To do so, you will need to open the list of wireless networks visible to your computer. You can locate this list by opening the Settings window, and selecting Network and Internet.

Select Show Available Networks. The list of visible networks should open in a pull-up menu on the bottom right of your screen.
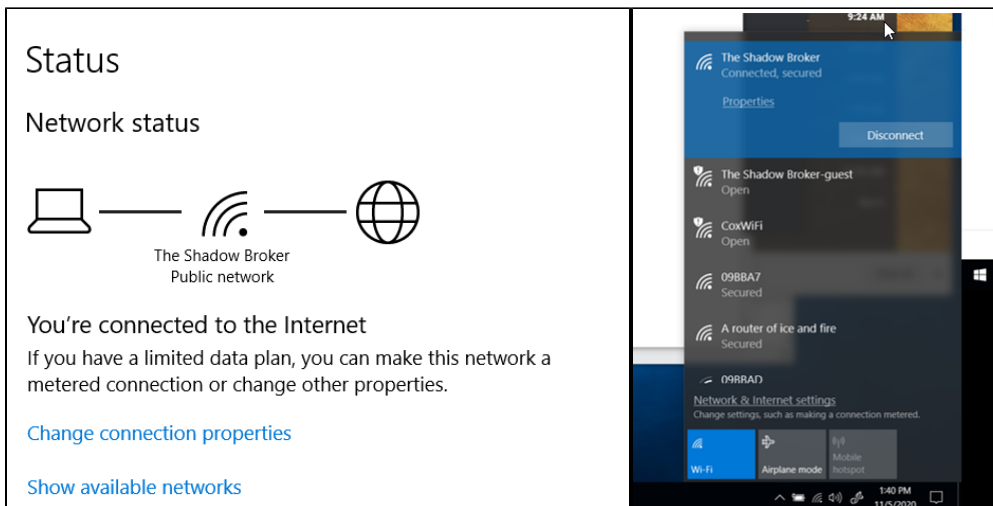

Right click on the network you want to forget to open a drop-down menu, and select Forget.
The network will then no longer have a password stored. The network may move to the bottom of the list of visible networks, but should still be visible.
